

Getting the Hell out of here.

Or

What happens after you die?

Introduction.

I had to pick a cute non-boring title. Of course I might upset a few folk with that title. Such is life. Not that I would seek to annoy or upset anyone, or take enjoyment from it. I have decided to write this booklet so that I can give it to folks who are interested in hearing about the next world – our eternal destination. And as I age, naturally I meet more and more folk who have lost a dear one. This is often the stimulus to ask, “What happens after death?”

It is my objective to try and write something that is largely devoid of undue moralizing, or religious framework. I initially decided to leave out the sources of my findings, but in this latest revision I have decided to add a list of the more significant sources. This will allow someone who would like either to review my work, or obtain greater insight, to do so. I have read very widely on this subject, and this now summarises some ten years of research. There are sometimes great differences in opinion out there. That does not mean I am right, but I will have good reasons why I believe what I believe.

Where does all this stuff come from? The other side of course! And of course, none of us has “proof.” The fact that I believe I spent thirty minutes talking to my deceased mother does not constitute scientific proof. Although the comments she directed to me, that referred to one-way thought conversations I had had with her, pretty well convinced me.

That fact, as far as science is concerned, is limited to my spending 30 minutes in the company of a dear friend who is a trance medium. Even the bit about trance medium is not accepted by science, although just recently they have found that some people can know things about total strangers that is way beyond statistical chance. Incidentally, my mother contributed virtually nothing to this paper, as she was still too new in spirit to know what is going on. Enough, into the good stuff.

Death.

I guess the first question to ask is whether we all survive death. Until recently I would not have had any doubt about that, but it seems there is a small complication for some folks. The universe recognizes our free will choices, to a very large extent. Those folk who are adamant that there is no life after death often do not pass immediately from one realm to the next in a conscious state. They are termed “sleeping survivors.” These folks almost get their most fervent wish, annihilation. They may sleep for centuries, before a group awakening. More recent information now indicates that relatively few folks pass over as “Sleeping Survivors” at the present time. This may be because the rules have been changed, as we enter the “Correcting Time” and also possibly because there are far more Celestial helpers available at this time.

But the majority of us simply pass from one state to another, with very little lost time. Some reports state three days are lost in this transition, but I now believe that is incorrect, and may simply be an attempt to insert some Biblical material. Depending on your health as you depart this life, you may be instantly conscious of your existence in the next realm. Thus you may pass almost without any break in consciousness.

If you are awake, there is no knowing quite how death will unfold. This is because as the brain shuts down, you can experience many different effects. Most of these are anything but spiritual, although you might think that they do feel spiritual. They are simply the results of the brain shutting down. You might have a “life review”, sort of like a movie. You may see white tunnels, or black tunnels. But you might have an instant out of body experience, where you are floating above your body, looking down on the scene, and that is a spiritual event, I admit. Sometimes if the body is about to be badly damaged, the spirit body is withdrawn before impact or injury. This gives rise to the out of body experience, where you look down as an outsider on your own body.

If you are consciously expecting death, things are probably going to be a bit different. Many folks know that they are dying, and seem to gain additional abilities or insights. They often start to see their spirit guides, and may feel the presence of their love, and be quite calm. There is no reason to panic. For one it is not going to help, and secondly, for the vast majority of us, what follows is a big improvement over life on earth. The folks who are full time workers assisting us to pass over will be in attendance at your passing. Generally this job is left entirely to these skilled folks, and your family generally waits until you are settled, and then arrives to welcome you. If you are weakening in the last hours of life, you most likely may see one or two of these folk, as this will avoid any concern when you see them from the other side.

You might even be met by dear loved ones who passed over before you, but it is more likely it will be one of those tasked with this function. Initially they, or other advanced spirits whose job it is to manage this transition, are simply seen as a bright white light. This is the basis of the reported white tunnel. Some folks have reported meeting Jesus, but this is very unlikely to happen. Not that he is not around, but if he was there, you almost certainly would not recognize him – unless you already know what he looks like – and more to the point he has far more important things to be doing. Might he have welcomed Mother Teresa? I think that is very likely, but I do not know that for a fact, but I do know of another he did welcome. Take it from me, you need to have been doing a pretty special job on earth to warrant that compliment. And the chances are that you would not need to be reading this, if that is true.

However it seems that those who see the “tunnel of light” or actually recognize some of the beings who are there to meet the newly departed, are in the minority. Far too many depart this life with inadequate spiritual preparation, and the result is that they have great difficulty in triggering their spiritual vision and spiritual hearing. You can imagine that moving from a situation where you operate out of a physical brain, even though linked to a spirit mind, is a very different situation when that physical brain is gone, and you must operate entirely with spirit faculties. The result is that many spend a period of time in a dazed state, in almost complete silence, and in almost total darkness. In the mean time, their “greeters” are frantically trying to make some sort of breakthrough. So if it happens to you, and you hear music, or see shadows or faint voices, do make an effort to hear and see more clearly. The irony is that because the next realm is subject to the influence of our thoughts, simply believing and saying: “I can see” or “I can hear” will trigger the required spiritual vision and hearing.

You may notice that you are completely naked, but this is not often remarked on. Probably because almost immediately, your spirit companions will “create” spirit clothes for you. There are various opinions as to whether they wear diaphanous gowns, or clothes that you are familiar with. It seems that it varies, according to what would make you most comfortable. So the attendants may in fact change into our style of clothing for some hours to ease the transition. These spirit clothes are great. They don’t get dirty and they don’t wear out either. And you can change them just by thinking a new outfit. But as folks progress, they seem to all adopt a sort of gown which has specific colours reflecting the development of the individual.

The very first thing that is going to happen to you, as you begin to realize something strange is happening, is that you will travel. I have only a vague idea how far that is, and it will probably not take more than a few seconds. While a lot of people report going to a way station, each person can have a unique experience. So from this point on, it’s very hard to say what will exactly happen to you. For example if you departed this earth life in need of spiritual repair, it’s almost certain you will be taken unconscious to a hospital for recovery, and you would regain your consciousness in that location.

Let’s assume that you will arrive at a way station, a collection point for recently deceased folk, as this is relatively common. No doubt with much coming and going. It is very pleasant, attractive, with a very loving atmosphere, and you will soon feel very relaxed. It has been described as a station concourse, but I don’t think that describes a loving atmosphere, although it may well be accurate in terms of comings and goings, and meeting loved ones. Most often these places are described as outside, on a hillside. It will undoubtedly feel like the best place you have ever been to. Things are looking up, you conclude. When you arrive in the next realm you will immediately notice an up step in frequency, not just in your own spirit body but in your surroundings as well. What you begin to experience is a higher frequency in which you exist. The colours are more vibrant; the plant life is more lush and alive.

If at this point you start to think about what you have left behind, you will find that you are right back there. In other words, you can travel, virtually instantly, just by thinking about it. So you might well see your family back on earth, shedding tears about your passing. But they won’t see you, or hear you. You are better off at this stage going back to the transition place. Back on “earth” you may be able to see everything just as you used to, but you will find that nothing is solid. You can pass through people, walls, everything. But the ability to discern things on earth seems to be directly related to the degree of spiritual advancement, and is one of the faculties that can be lost quite quickly. However, you will notice that you “hear” dear mortal friends, thinking about you, and you may instantly visit them. If you are really lucky, you may find a few who can “feel” your presence, and this will give you a big thrill, just as it will give them a thrill to know you are around. You may even be able to create a few “signs” that let folk know you are still around. Things like leaving a telltale cigar smell, or making a noise or two, or leaving your favourite flower where it will be seen. Perhaps leaving a scent in the air. How they do those things, frankly I don't know.

But back at the way-station, things are very solid. You can hug old friends, and they can certainly "hear" you. The spirit body appears quite solid, and still appears to need to breathe, but does not need sleep or food. While you can talk in the old conventional way, you will also discover that it seems to be possible to converse just via thoughts. Then you notice that they must be hearing your thoughts, and you hearing their thoughts. And then you have a dreadful realization – these folk know everything about you! They can simply read your memories. And they hear your thoughts! You recall that time you got Fred fired by making up a confidential report, and rather stretching the facts to suit, now here you have to look Fred in the eye. He knows, but strangely he's not mad. Or maybe, you remember wearing that really low cut dress for the Christmas party, and how successful it was in starting that affair with Joe. And here is Sally, Joe's partner, smiling at you. Total openness leads to the rapid realization that all of us fail from time to time. Actually not all thoughts are shared, so we can still have some secrets!

During this period of orientation, you start to notice that not all spirits are quite the same. Some have a beautiful countenance and way about them. And they are brighter, and amazingly loving. This brightness seems to come right out of them. Others are more base, dark, indeed some are downright ugly. Even racial differences somehow seem to have melted away. As you wonder why this might be, you suddenly begin to wonder where you fit in. Are you ugly, or beautiful? Bright or dark?

At this point you will also know that you are just the same person that you were in the mortal life. With the same beliefs, memories, attitudes, values, fears, unresolved issues and loves. How did this happen? After all, your brain is already consigned to dust. Quite simply, as a mortal on earth you had three major components. There was your soul, which as far as we can tell, was probably billions of years old. Then there was your spirit body, which encapsulates the soul, and takes on the appearance of the mortal body. Just as well, because none of us can see souls, but we can see spirit bodies. It seems that the spirit body is a sort of reflection of the enclosed soul. If this soul is pure, the spirit body is literally full of light. If the soul is tarnished, the spirit body is dark, even ugly. And finally of course you had a mortal body. While you may have thought that all your memories were in your brain, it seems it is not quite so. The spirit body houses the mind, and the brain is the transducer that allows the physical body to interact with the spirit body and its mind. So you may have lost the physical body, but most folks report feeling much lighter, and far prefer only having a spirit body. For one thing, it has no defects. If you lost a leg, you will find you are now perfect. If your brain suffered from senile dementia, you will have no such limitation now. And there are some neat tricks you will learn in the future in regards to your spirit body.

Just at this point, the spirits who manage this transition process, explain that in the heavens, the Law of Attraction is paramount. Every spirit has to live where it fits in – where it is in harmony. And, yes, those beautiful ones, that seem somehow ethereal, are more advanced, and no, most probably you won't live with them. You can look down at your hands, or ask for a “mirror” to see how you rate. They will explain that you can progress beyond where you start out, but probably you won’t be listening closely enough. You are concerned that you are not going to be living with your dear Madge, who passed some years before you. She says that she will come and visit you regularly. Things are beginning to sound more complicated.

The Structure of the Heavens.

I guess most practical folk have long realized you can get almost no sense out of most religions when you ask about heaven. All that singing and harp plucking stuff that is supposed to go on, strutting around on streets of gold. Or maybe the idea that you are going to be asleep until some great day of judgment.

It is far more logical to consider that since mortals have been around a very long time, probably over a million years on earth, that there has been a heaven all that time, with spirits in it. Certainly the holy books, like the Bible, happily report interactions with the spirit world going back many years before Christ. Perhaps I should point out here, that the spirit realm that I am about to discuss would appear not to be the Kingdom of God that so many orthodox Christians expect to enter via Jesus’ help. This is undoubtedly the cause of a great deal of confusion, and even heartache. It is what has led so many Christians to conclude, incorrectly, that only they will get to “heaven” and everyone else will only get to “hell.” The real issue is “which” heaven, something they have not considered. The main part of this paper covers the Kingdom of Spirit, also called the Spirit Spheres and not the Kingdom of God.

It may even be the case that we create this spirit heaven ourselves. Not to suggest God has nothing to do with it, but as spirits we have great powers, which powers increase as the spirit advances. So it would not surprise me if in fact the “realities” that are found are created by the spirits that are there. And this creation need not necessarily be conscious. This would explain why some spirits, and indeed many NDE’s, (near death experiences) seem to describe confusingly different places. We have explanations of Jewish heavens, and the classic Christian heavens, complete with harps, witnessing and bright holy images. We have descriptions of fire and brimstone hells, and also dark places that are simply cold, sad, dead places. One thing that is quite clear, the belief system of the spirit has a very large effect on the experience it will have. Whether this is only a function of the Law of Attraction, which causes like-minded spirits to congregate, or whether it is the will of the spirit that creates a “reality” it expects, is uncertain.

The most common description of the Kingdom of Spirit talks about seven “spheres” or “worlds”. However these should not be taken too literally. But it seems that however they are constructed, they are immense in size. There is absolutely no shortage of space.

Then there are also the vast uncountable heavens beyond the seventh sphere. Where are all these planets? Well, we are not sure, but the universe is very much larger than man has supposed. Apparently what we humans think is the entire universe is but a very tiny corner of one of many super universes. And some 80% of the material is apparently not visible to man anyway, but is visible to spirit. Could it be another dimension? It almost certainly is. But irrespective of the number of dimensions that may exist, the distances involved in traversing our Universe are immense. The solid material of the next realm can co-exist in space with solid material from our realm. So different solid objects can occupy the same spot, one in each dimension. Apparently the lowest spirit sphere is very close to our earth, and the first sphere has been suggested as taking up the approximate space of the orbit of our earth around the sun. That is extremely large, and obviously very close.

One of the difficulties or problems in getting a good description of the heavens comes from the apparent fact that the bottom up view is so limited and confused. We are accustomed, on earth, to always know who is in charge, and how things are organized. But in the next realm free will is paramount. You will not be used to this idea, as earth is quite different. If you want to believe something, you will be allowed to believe that, and furthermore, the Law of Attraction will ensure that you find yourself amongst others of like mind. So, you will be in the situation that unless you ask for information, you will be left with your belief. It is quite unlikely that someone will knock at your door, proselytize and hand out a few pamphlets. That might be a relief for quite a few of us! Even the issue of religious groups is interesting. There are still folks that insist on following their old religion. However they are absolutely not allowed to proselytize.

There is another problem. Spirits are confined, to a large degree, to the sphere in which they reside. This is where they are in harmony, and they would not feel comfortable any higher or lower in the scheme. This does not mean that all in the same sphere are identical in outlook. One can still find intellectuals and religious folk in the same sphere. Indeed there are many such diverse groupings, called planes, within each sphere.

There is also the issue that your perception is a function of your spiritual development. So, if you are in the first sphere, you may be told there are other spheres, but you can't see them. This is not like living in Australia, and knowing that there are other continents, such as the Americas, and knowing you could live there if you wanted to. It is possible to have a very short visit to a higher sphere, but to achieve this you need to be taken there by someone with the power to enable you to travel there. What I am sure of is that you will find Catholics living together, groups of intellectuals, Muslims, Jews etc. And each of these groups will believe that their current happiness is a function of what they believe. Which is not surprising, except if they compared themselves carefully with others, this would illustrate the falsity of the idea. In this sense I describe things as confused from the bottom up. A great many other folks have simply given up their earth based beliefs. In fact in the list of sources is a fabulous tale by Monsignor Robert Hugh Benson who although a Roman Catholic cleric, gave up all his prior beliefs inside a few hours. Such is the reality of the next realm, that many of peoples' earth beliefs simply cannot withstand the reality.

There is no overall agreement about what happens next, and what is best for progression, or what is the "right" belief. In fact I don't even think these lower spirits generally know who is in charge, and maybe some are only vaguely aware of the desirability of seeking to progress. So I would guess there may be spirits in the First sphere who might dispute that there is a Second sphere, never mind an almost unlimited number beyond that!

Those “in charge” always respect the free will choices of these spirits, so it is only through a conscious choice to follow a leader’s direction, that folk can be said to be led. The leaders are far more advanced, live somewhere else where you cannot go, and cannot be seen unless they decide to make themselves visible. This is because the more advanced spirits have this ability to conceal themselves from less advanced spirits. In some ways it is like it is on earth when we try to understand what happens after death. Our perception of the next realm is limited, and indeed there are many on earth that would dispute that there is any life after death.

The authority that we were used to on earth is simply absent. In that sense you can experience total freedom of choice to do as you please. But it also means you can follow dozens of spiritual paths that don’t lead anywhere special. In fact almost everything that you do will probably lead to increased happiness, so it is very easy to believe you are on the “right” path. And this is typically how spirits continue. They ascribe their current happiness to the path they are on, but it may be that there is nothing special about that path compared to many other paths.

However in another respect the spheres are supremely organized, with no chaos or poor organization. There is always someone in charge of a specific function, and they love their job, and have been superbly trained to perform it perfectly. So if you feel like being trained in a specific activity, this can be accomplished perfectly.

Of course there are other things that make it easy. You don’t NEED to eat, although folks apparently enjoy nuts and fruits. They don’t have digestive organs, so these foods are not eaten as we do on earth, but apparently more like “inhaled.” The same with water. This refreshes, but is not used to sustain. Since you don’t need to eat, clearly you don’t need a job to earn money to survive. Indeed there is no money, because all you need is given. So, you will do things because you enjoy them, not because you have to. Well, that depends on where you are.

Although we describe the Spirit Heavens as having seven spheres, in reality there are an almost infinite number of “planes” within these. In a sense, one’s spirituality acts like a sort of gravity. The less spiritual you are, the further down you will sink, possibly right to the bottom. And the bottom is called hell. In fact, the really advanced spirits consider that all of the first and second spheres contain some darkness. But, for us earthlings, anything from the top of the first sphere upwards is just great. There are in fact three portions of the first sphere that could almost be called separate spheres. These are the lowest planes.

Hell.

You will find plenty of “new age” folk will deny there is any hell at all. They will tell you they have never had any feedback from the other side to suggest anything like it. They report that all spirits are loving and that there is only love. That may be so, mostly because very few spirits in hell are keen to admit this to loved ones on earth. But I have personally worked with people who were seriously troubled by dark spirits, and my mother has also told me my sister is in darkness. And, once you understand how the universe works, there has to be a place where those who are seriously out of harmony reside until they learn. It is just inconceivable that God would suddenly make loving spirits out of those who have chosen to be unloving. No, our progress is entirely dependent upon ourselves. That is what it means to be a free will creature.

What is it like in hell? Here is a description:

In this hell of mine, and there are many like it, instead of beautiful homes, as the other spirits described, we have dirty, rotten hovels all crooked and decayed, with all the foul smells of a charnel house ten times intensified, and instead of beautiful lawns and green meadows and leafy woods filled with musical birds making the echoes ring with their songs, we have barren wastes, and holes of darkness and gloom and the cries and cursings of spirits of damnation without hope; and instead of living, silvery waters we have stagnant pools filled with all kinds of repulsive reptiles and vermin, and smells of inexpressible, nauseating stinks.

I tell you that these are all real, and not creatures of the imagination or the outflowing of bitter recollections. And as for love, it has never shown its humanizing face in all the years that I have been here - only cursings and hatred and bitter scathings and imprecations, and grinning spirits with their witchlike cacklings. No rest, no hope, no kind words or ministering hand to wipe away the scalding tears which so often flow in mighty volumes. No, hell is real and hell is here.

We do not have any fire and brimstone, or grinning devils with pitch forks and hoofs and horns as the churches teach; but what is the need or necessity for such accompaniments? They would not add to the horrors or to our torments. I tell you my friend that I have faintly described our homes in these infernal regions and I cannot picture them as they are.

But the horror and pity of it all is that hope does not come to us with one faint smile to encourage us that there may at some time be an ending to all these torments, and in our hopeless despair we realize that our doom is fixed for all eternity. (See a later explanation about the duration of hell)

This is of course but one description, and as mentioned earlier, you should not be surprised to discover many variations on a theme.

Perhaps we should not use the word hell, because it is not a permanent situation, although commonly believed to be so by its inhabitants. There is no eternal damnation. In fact there is no damnation at all. Hell is simply a place where dreadful spirits live, until they choose not to be dreadful. So how long could you be there then? It all depends on you. How low in the hells you are, and how soon you start to try to get out. Yes but how long? From feedback, there are two ways out, the normal way, which is pretty slow, and the short cut way.

The normal way involves the spirit realizing that he/she is there because of their attitudes and values, and then deciding to change, and slowly changing, by being kind to his companions. If you were really bad on earth, you could expect this process to take longer than a lifetime. Some historically bad spirits, like the Roman Emperors, seem to have spent up to a thousand years in darkness. Julius Caesar was still in hell in 1915, but got out with some help, in 17 months. That means he had been in hell for 2040 years, a very long time indeed. Judas also learnt of the short cut, naturally from the apostles. Apparently Andrew and Mary Magdalene was always close to Judas, and they encouraged him to apply the knowledge that Jesus had taught them. Judas had not really understood these spiritual teachings, and in fact neither did the Apostles till Pentecost.

The first thought that probably you might realize, if you end up here, is that you did not appear to have a big day of judgment. You did not end up in front of God, and get judged. In fact, judgment happened every day and every second of your mortal life. When you broke a Spiritual Law, your soul was encrusted immediately, and that was that. Now you have to in effect clean your soul yourself. You could have done that on earth, if you had chosen to, but it did not seem to affect your material life having an encrusted soul. Well I might debate how much real happiness and peace you felt on earth with a heavily encrusted soul, but you can retort that it did not affect starting the Ferrari. Or distributing illicit drugs, whatever took your fancy.

So how bad is hell really? It depends. Frankly, the upper reaches of “hell” would be better than many folk’s experience of life on earth. The darkest depths are not good however. Here it is reported one can be in total darkness, unable to perceive anyone or anything, totally alone with only your own thoughts and memories. Many spirits report that they would choose annihilation, if it were an option. There is no fire, simply because fire does not affect spirit. We can travel through the sun as spirit. But the emotional darkness, and irritations of the other dark spirits makes it a very unpleasant experience.

What are my chances of ending up there? If you are a normal person, neither particularly good, nor particularly bad, then you will probably land up at the top of the first sphere. Possibly a bit lower, or possibly a bit higher. You might not ever realize that this is “hell”, and just simply think life sucks after earth. On the other hand, if you were a poor African, or Asian, eking out a tough existence on earth, battling disease and hunger, you may think this “hell” is a huge improvement over your earth experiences. If you have really tried on earth, and consider that you adhered strictly to your religious beliefs, and more particularly those relating to living in love, and caring for your fellows, which basically all religions espouse, you might make the second sphere, or higher. But statistically, the “normal” result is the first sphere.

So how do you get out of darkness? Actually help is always available, although right at the bottom, it may take some time before that help can be perceived. The problem is that most spirits in darkness are too embarrassed to even acknowledge the help offered to them. We are none of us an island, and thus everyone knows someone. The more advanced spirits are always trying to help those that are less developed, even in darkness, particularly if there is a personal relationship. But their advances are most often rebuffed. So the first lesson is to be prepared to ask for, and accept help. The spirits that can help are those that are visually bright, or brighter than your companions. They will be loving too, which is always a clear indication.

The second lesson is to know that there is hope, and that hell is not eternal. The Christian Churches have done mortal man a great disservice in preaching that hell is eternal. Spirits either believe this themselves, or hear it constantly from their companions. Thus it is very hard to have hope. Admittedly the environment is not conducive to hope. Imagine this:

It seemed as if I was standing at the top of a mountain or hill. Below I could see a pretty valley, with forests, meadows, springs and streams. I heard birds singing, it was like a beautiful summer day. Suddenly, everything began to dry off. The green colors turned brown, the leaves fell off the trees, and after a short time, I saw a disastrous landscape. Everything was dry, the earth cracked, a few trunks like skeletons without life, the streams had disappeared, leaving behind only their stony beds. There was no sunshine anymore, everything seemed dark, like a winter dawn in the northern regions, but without snow, and the silence of death reigned.

Let's assume you accept help. There are two types of advice that you will get. The first is basically to develop your natural love. One needs to repent, in the sense of accepting responsibility for where you are, and wanting to change. But most of all one needs to learn to be more loving. This as one can expect, is not easy. Particularly when those around you are not loving. While saying that this is the category of help you might get, if it was a Catholic priest offering help, you might expect him to suggest you follow his faith. The extent, to which this sort of narrow religious advice is given, really depends on the level of the spirit offering the advice. I tend to think that the more advanced spirits do realize that many conventional religions have much the same effect, and that therefore love is the common denominator. But lower down, most spirits cling tenaciously to their religious beliefs. So you may get a lot of pastors, all favouring their brand of religion, trying to help you. The reason why this process is so slow is that we are as we think. Amazingly, thoughts have been described as real, and as having a real existence in this realm. We have to change our thoughts in order to change, and that can be hard.

The second category of advice that you might receive introduces a totally new concept. Here you will be told that if you pray from the heart (soul) to God and ask for His Divine Love, you will feel this Love. It may take a few days, or a week, but you will feel this Love as a real sensation. If you keep on asking, each time you will receive a small portion of Divine Love. This Love is a physical reality, and will purify your soul. This is the short cut method. Not only does it get you out of darkness faster than any other way, but also it will accelerate your spiritual progress through the heavens. Many dark spirits have attested to its effectiveness, but they also caution how hard it is to think of spiritual things while in hell. Of course since almost no body has heard of this short cut method, they may dismiss it out of hand. But since it promises almost instant results, I suggest it is well worth trying. You don't have anything to lose.

This technique also works on earth. That is to say, you can feel the Love, and you will notice yourself changing over the next year or so. And we have had confirmation that humans following this method are in general much brighter in their spirit body than the general mortal population. It does something at a very fundamental level.

Earth Bound Spirits.

This term may be a bit of a misnomer, but I have used it because it is common in spiritualist circles. It is certainly a very descriptive phrase. The Earth plane is in the first sphere, simply because of the poor “average” soul condition of us mortals currently. If it were not so, there would be more “heaven on Earth” at this time. If you realize that we are all spirit, even as mortals, you will understand that our physical Earth also has a place in the spiritual realm, which represents our average spiritual condition.

Although earlier I described the “passing over” after death to a special arrivals area for newly arrived spirits, there have been countless descriptions of others who did not even notice that they had died. These folk, sometimes even thirty years after death still do not realize that they are dead. These folk certainly missed the “bus” as it were.

I do not know precisely why one group of people passes neatly over along what seems to be an organized path and others simply hang around the earth plane as so called earthbound spirits. I would speculate that it has something to do with free will, and perhaps these folk in some perverse way have refused the “normal” path, albeit unconsciously. Those that fall into this category without exception have no understanding of what really happens after death. (But equally many others do catch the bus, even though they also know very little.) Many believe that the dead lie asleep till the “great resurrection.” With that in mind, they conclude they can’t be dead. Others don’t even have that concept and just complain that they can no longer see because of the darkness.

Other spirits of a very material bent find themselves in the Earth plane. There seem to be many reasons for this. They may have had an unexpected bad experience, such as being murdered. It seems the shock of a sudden death may indeed be a factor in how successfully one transitions. They may also be of limited spiritual development, but not necessarily bad. Another reason is a desire to look after a family, or even to try to enjoy, or protect material possessions. A very common reason is a refusal to consider that they are dead. They may then hang around their last place of living, for a long period of time. Some are intensely religious, of the mindless type. Yet they start out no better off than someone who never gave life after death a moments thought.

It appears that in the lowest parts of the First Sphere the only light is that emanating from the spirits or mortals. And those spirits with virtually no personal light are consequently in total darkness. They may then be attracted to the light of a mortal, since these dark spirit places coincide with the earth plane. They can then become trapped in the magnetic aura of a mortal.

Technically, since a spirit can travel by simply thinking themselves somewhere, they should never be “caught” in an aura, just as a spirit should never experience a mortal sitting on top of it. But these spirits are so ignorant that they don’t know that and may continue in that dreadful situation of being trapped in an aura for years. In this situation they become extremely frustrated and angry. They experience life through the eyes of the mortal, and some get really bothered that their body is not what they think it should be, particularly if they have wandered into the aura of the opposite sex. They discover that they can impress their will upon the mortal and this gives rise to the term obsession or even possession.

These poor spirits often have another problem. They continue to believe that whatever physical ailments they had as a mortal, still exist. Thus they may complain of a broken neck, or cough constantly. They manage to transfer these symptoms to the poor mortal that they obsess.

There is another sad side effect of being trapped in an aura. This seems to completely hide that spirit from its more evolved spirit family who may have been searching for them for years. These spirits in the lowest planes are not attractive to look at. Not only are they grey or dark, but they are also ugly. This is simply the effect of their karma or sin on the spirit body.

These spirits can sometimes be helped to “pass over”. This term is probably another misnomer, as they are probably there because that is where they want to be, although this is possibly an ignorant and even possibly an unconscious desire. But free will is paramount, even if the spirit has earned the right to greater happiness; it stays here until it chooses to move on. The human helpers, being mediums and being able to see and converse with the spirit, often tell them to go to the light. This works, but the way it works may surprise many spiritualists.

Accompanying these spiritually evolved mortals are spirit guides, and it is their spiritual light that the Earthbound spirit sees. This enables the spirit to visualize these more advanced spirits, who then explain things, and the spirit may indeed choose to “move on” under their guidance.

The First Sphere.

Hell is of course in the first sphere, but most of us would not consider the upper reaches of the first sphere as being in darkness. That is because we are used to earth, a planet that is itself largely in darkness. Above “hell” one finds the “Twilight Zone”, and then “Summerland”. These are spiritualist terms. Some spiritualists teach that Summerland is the Third Sphere, but that is apparently not so.

In the upper reaches of the first sphere, spirits use tools to create things, just like here. Later on, this is unnecessary. They live in homes, and learn how to manipulate their spirit bodies. They can for example create a perfect physique, or a full head of hair. Most spirits choose a physical form from somewhere between twenty and thirty, one which I guess represents their physical prime.

They also discover making love in the spirit is a bit different, and very enjoyable. It is accomplished by a sort of fusion of energy between the souls. Having been fortunate enough to experience it a few times, in out of body experiences, I can report that it is indeed something to look forward to. Apparently some spirits really get into this new love making. Homes are provided too. The way in which buildings and other created items are made is intriguing, and explained by Monsignor Robert Hugh Benson. Apparently you can decorate or change your home. Folks specialize in all these activities, including for example making flowers. The flowers are eternal in nature, and responsive. I rather suspect we will not have an autumn in heaven, and that slightly saddens me. There is no decay, so I can't see how one achieves the magic show of autumn leaves that we have here on earth.

Even the homes in the upper planes of the first sphere are very comfortable, allowing for the fact that they don't have kitchens or bathrooms, but later on they seem to be better than the grandest mansion one might imagine. In hell they are hovels or caves. The old Bible phrase – “in my Father's house are many mansions” has more than a ring of Truth. But the weather is so benevolent, that if you did not want to live in a house, you could entirely do without one.

Animals and pets are found in spirit. There is no doubt at all, if you have a much loved cat, dog or even elephant, that you will enjoy its companionship again. It is not the case that all animals automatically survive death, but much loved ones are found again. It is likely that this is a creation emanating from the love that we hold for that animal. On the other hand, apparently there are places in the spirit world where you can go and see the dinosaurs, so no doubt all manner of animal can be found, for our enjoyment. Of course many pets pass over before us, and thus someone will be looking after them there.

Strangely many spirits report feeling cold when they first arrive, but later this is not a problem. It is quite widely accepted that spirits are cold when they appear in our realm, and at least one spirit has reported being able to feel the heat from a fire in our realm, as well as clearly hearing sound from our realm. When they first arrive in spirit, spirits continue to talk, and it is also reported that they can breathe, although that seems surprising. Later on they simply use thought communication.

Spirits spend a great deal of time discussing God. Does He exist etc. Naturally religious groups exist, and spirits will follow those beliefs by attending church etc. Spiritual ignorance abounds, as one would expect. That does not mean spirits are unopinionated. Indeed it seems some of the most opinionated spirits can be found in the first and second spheres. The old adage of the empty can making the most noise seems true of spirit as well. Arguments are even more intense than on earth. This is because each spirit will now have some experiences that support their belief.

The level of ignorance is actually very high, but that does not stop many spirits attending séances and coming through with a great deal of misplaced authority. These are the spirits who may use Jesus' name, or even call themselves God.

One also finds spirits here who are mischievous, and immature, rather than evil. They will also delight in frightening mortals at séances. Summerland has been described as having a climate similar to California. But without the pollution no doubt! There are a great number of children in Summerland, but they are not found lower, which is quite reasonable. The landscape is beautiful, with pretty villages and cities. Spirits can choose to live in a city, or in the country. I may finally get that water view I always wanted! The cities don't have roads, indeed there are no roads anywhere, and typically the height of the buildings is limited to a few stories. So the typical landscape of a city would be quite different to what we might be used to, with no pavements or tables on sidewalks.

There is still a degree of negativity, which is illustrated by gossip, differences of opinion, and anger. But most spirits are pretty used to that from earth, and probably don't really notice it. Sports are indulged, but there are issues playing ball sports. Apparently the gravity is quite different, and to launch a ball one needs to use thought power. Once so launched, it will not stop until redirected again by thought. So sending a ball towards the goal would always reach the goal, and rather seems to make sports such as football and golf irrelevant. That might hugely upset some folks, so I hope there is something as addictive for the golfing fraternity. I was very pleased to discover one can have a boat, if one has the development, and that this can be "motorised" by thought. It is even possible to sail, but as the winds are very gentle, I guess it is again largely thought powered.

It is here in the First Sphere that spirits tend to discover what they really want to do, and what talents they have. As they don't have to work, and there is no authority chasing them, they are totally free to devote whatever time they like to pursuits. Spirits find that they can follow material pursuits here, but in time the attractiveness of that fades, and suddenly they begin to realize that spirituality is important, and a greater source of happiness.

Here the spirits find that their desires result in changes to their spirit bodies. So, although they do not have conscious control over this aspect, they do look attractive, with perfect bodies. In time these pleasures pall, and the spirit finds itself drawn more to spiritual avenues, and that this gives it increased happiness. They are then starting to progress out of this sphere.

The Second Sphere.

The essential requirement for a spirit to reach the second sphere is the recognition that material pursuits are limited, and does not lead to real happiness. In the second sphere, spirits choose their spiritual path. These are by no means uniform, and in general, if a spirit decides later to change to another spiritual path, they will return to this sphere.

In fact there are two great classifications of spiritual path, but this distinction is probably not obvious to most spirits. The first classification is the natural love path. In this class, one finds all the religions, and even those following an intellectual, and non-religious path. Slowly but surely, spirits become more loving, and advance steadily through the spheres, stopping at the sixth. The sixth is a heaven of complete happiness, so complete that spirits there lack nothing, and cannot envisage anything better.

The second classification is the Divine Love path. If you took the short cut out of hell, you will have found so much happiness flowing into your soul, that this will be the path you will follow. Not many spirits follow this path however.

In this second sphere, which can be called a sphere of decision, it is really like a kindergarten. In the first spheres, many things were built by machine. Here in the second, spirits are learning to use their spirit powers, assisted by other more advanced spirits. There are many institutions of learning, and this sphere is well known to many spiritualists.

They learn to modify their clothes, to build their houses using spiritual power, and to even modify aspects of their spiritual bodies. This exposure to the spiritual powers that are available generates a state of euphoria, and as a result many spirits stay here a long time. It is such fun. That is no bad thing; there is no timetable to keep.

In deciding what development path to follow, spirits are influenced by those from more advanced spheres. Thus a spirit from the fourth sphere may well extol the virtues of his path, and the beauty of his sphere. Spirits in many cases retain some of the spiritual ideas they had in the first sphere, but they may be beginning to modify those to some extent. Some of them have a period of confusion, for example if they believe that they should now stand before God, or perhaps Jesus. As that does not happen, it takes a while to rationalize, and evolve a new spiritual or religious strategy.

Jesus does visit these spirits, but they do not generally recognize him. He cannot display himself as he really is, because his spiritual brightness is far too powerful to be revealed in these lower spheres, and hence they generally do not accord him any special status. We have been told that the sun is like a candle compared to his spiritual brightness.

The second sphere is really a real heaven, as it has immense facilities for study, facilities that cannot be dreamed of on earth. Eventually however, each and every spirit eventually arrives at the highest plane in this sphere.

There a tremendous change occurs. They remember that they have got this far through the help given them by numerous spirits, and a great urge overtakes them to perform a similar function. It is an atonement task.

The Third Sphere.

Spirits in the third sphere have both sufficient love, and spiritual understanding to begin to perform a useful task of helping other spirits. Because of their greater spiritual development, they can also begin to perceive the Will of God, although this is not because they can perceive God.

Typically the tasks that they undertake have something to do with their earth life. I came across a fellow getting a lot of help from an ex-playgirl. This fellow had very strong sexual desires, and she was trying very hard to influence him away from those. Clearly she had to atone for inciting so many fellows to sexual desires by being a playgirl. Another may be a pastor, who has spent a lifetime spreading false doctrines. He may find himself trying to undo those false beliefs. This work can be very hard, and these spirits do experience frustration. However this does not mean that all these spirits are teaching only truth. These spirits still have many of their earth beliefs, provided always that none of these are seriously harmful from a spiritual perspective. Where that is the case, they do not progress, until they come to a realisation that their belief is false.

Those spirits following the Divine Love path may spend a long time in this sphere, because they feel the importance of the task of teaching this “new” Truth.

When finally what started out as a work of atonement, and now becomes a vocational choice, the spirit is ready to move on.

Here is a description of a home in the Third Sphere:

Yes, my home is very beautiful and I am perfectly delighted with it. It is made of white marble and is surrounded by lawns and flowers and trees of various kinds. The grass is so very green and the flowers are so beautiful and variegated. The trees are always in foliage and have such beautiful limbs and leaves. I am most pleased with my home, I mean the building. There are many beautiful pictures on the walls, and the walls are all frescoed and hung with fine coverings, and the floors are inlaid with beautiful mosaics. I have all the splendid furniture that I could possibly wish for, and my library is full of books of all kinds, especially of those that tell of God and His Love for man. You would be in your element if you could be with me.

I have music, such as you never heard on earth, and instruments of various kinds which I am learning to play, and I sing with all my heart and soul as the days go by. I have beds on which I lie down, but I never sleep. We do not need sleep here; we only rest, for sometimes we get tired from our work and are greatly refreshed by lying on the beds and couches which are so comfortable that we do not realize that we are tired after lying down a little while.

The Fourth Sphere.

The spirits in this sphere are now used as teachers, in the various learning institutions, and they develop in this sphere their sometimes astonishing healing abilities. It is largely an intellectual sphere, and some spirits following a Divine Love path spend almost no time here, moving virtually directly on to the Fifth sphere. Others chose to stay here, although they can do much the same work in the Fifth sphere. There is beginning to be a bigger and bigger difference between spirits following the natural love and the intellectual path, and those following the Divine Love path.

Earthly bonds weaken, and spirits are not much interested in the affairs of earth. Even familial bonds weaken. This does not mean that they do not care for other members of their genetic families, but their general love for all mankind is now so strong, that familial love recedes in contrast.

Soul mates now begin to be a topic of great interest. It is true we all have a soul mate. This is because the initial creation of souls creates pairs of souls. This appears to be yet another technique that God has provided to gather his creation closer. Inevitably one soul mate will be more advanced. Their great love for each other spurs the less developed one to make great efforts to catch up, so that they can live together. Some times this is in fact the way a soul is “extracted” from the hells. The more advanced soul mate is able to influence the less developed one to make the effort to get out of darkness. What is intriguing is that this soul mate attraction is so strong that a bright and pure spirit is actually attracted at all to a dark spirit.

The fourth sphere, with its great facilities is often a sphere where spirits stay a very long time. By the time that these spirits have reached the upper planes of this sphere, they will have all but lost interest in the affairs of mortal man. Their only interest is in helping man to progress, but they take no personal interest in his affairs.

The Fifth Sphere.

This is what is termed a soul sphere, and those spirits following a natural love path do not spend much time here. But it is an important sphere for Divine Love spirits. The only thing that natural love spirits lack is absolute purity. They must eradicate the last traces of sin. They may still cling to false beliefs, but none of these will be harmful. This last stage of purification does not take long, and the natural love spirits then progress into the sixth, the ultimate goal of their spiritual path.

There is no reason for them to tarry here, since there is more happiness to be had in the sixth. There is also little commonality between them and Divine love spirits. They have a fundamentally different belief, and spiritual path, and this leads to different interests.

In fact many of the Divine Love spirits also hasten to enter the sixth, and then return. The sixth is not entirely congenial to them, and they have much development that they can do in the Fifth. And, once they have received more of the Divine Love, they can progress directly to the Seventh Sphere.

It was reported that Mother Teresa passed over into the Fifth Sphere, and that is the highest that we have heard of for a mortal, although there have been others, apparently. Just recently we heard that Francis of Assisi also passed into the Fifth. Few could doubt the love that she had, or the spiritual fervour that he had.

Here is a description of a home in the Fifth Sphere:

I am living with your mother in her home, but I am not so spiritual as she. We are both very happy though, and have everything that the heart could wish for. The music is so beautiful that I cannot describe it to you, and even the love which helps to make the music is of such an intensity that you could not possibly understand if I should attempt to tell it to you. My home here is much more beautiful than that which I had in the third sphere, and everything is beyond what I conceived when I lived there. The house and trees and flowers and fruits are very much more beautiful and delightful. No one could be anything but happy in such a home. We have nothing to interfere with our happiness and every one is a delightful companion and full of love and beauty. I have met many spirits that I did not know either on earth or in the spirit world before I came to this place, both men and women.

Yes, we have rivers and lakes and fields and mountains and all the beautiful landscapes that you can imagine, I not only enjoy these things, but they are more real than those of earth. I am sometimes engaged in painting these flowers and landscapes, and have many pictures which others painted. I find that I can paint with a more artistic touch than when on earth. I have no trouble in drawing as you know I had some in my earth pictures. I am also studying music, and especially my vocal lessons. You will be much surprised when you hear me sing as you cannot conceive what a different voice I have. Sometimes I try to sing some of the songs that I used to sing to you, but they are not pretty in comparison to the songs we have here, either in the music or the sentiments.

The Sixth Sphere.

This is the pinnacle of spiritual development for natural love spirits. It represents a return to the Adamic state. However, they quite possibly simply dispute that there are any higher spheres. Certainly Divine Love spirits find that these spirits are not interested in listening to this concept. They enjoy themselves with many very advanced intellectual and moral discussions. One should realize that mental capacity has expanded enormously along with spiritual development.

This is a perfect heaven, and spirits lack for nothing, and cannot imagine anything better could exist.

The sixth sphere is a purely intellectual area, and by that I mean that in spite of the great spirituality of the place, the zeal of its inhabitants goes much more for increasing their knowledge, while they live a life in absolute harmony with God's laws of spirituality. It is a place where science has reached its most spectacular results compared to all the spiritual spheres, and where the intelligence of its inhabitants is supreme, and where absolute fraternity exists, such as people dream of on earth. There are great social events, amusements, all of which provides them with great happiness, their class of happiness. Paradise, yes, the sixth sphere is the paradise which the Hebrews dreamt of and continue dreaming of, and it is the paradise that Christian churches teach of, in general, and also spiritualists.

Religion is important too, and there is a great diversity of religious practice. That indicates that the inhabitants are not in possession of absolute truth. It is rare for these spirits to communicate with mortals. But many work as teachers and professors in lower spheres.

Divine Love spirits can enter this sphere, but generally do not stay long. They simply find that their interests are different. So they return to the Fifth until they are able to pass into the Seventh.

As these sixth sphere spirits do not progress any further, it is not known what their long-term future will be. Some sources suggest eventually all will awaken to the fact that something is lacking – God's Divine Love, and progress will then resume. Other sources suggest that in fact the "second death" will mean that these spirits are isolated, and the "gates" to the Kingdom of God will be closed, leaving them excluded.

The Seventh Sphere.

This sphere is only populated by Divine Love spirits. It marks the beginning of a series of changes that will eventually leave them quite different to other spirits. So different, that it is said they cannot be considered to be of the same family. The first change is that the soul manifests a mind, which is different to the mind that all other spirits utilize. This begins to dominate. Eventually, before the spirit leaves this sphere, the mind of the spirit body will have entirely withered away, leaving the spirit using the mind of the soul.

The duration of the process of the last stage of transformation varies. It may be achieved in a relatively short time, but many spirits stay longer in this wonderful paradise, enjoying and experiencing, like tourists taking their time to explore the last corner of their unknown world.

They gain enormous knowledge in this sphere, in this process, and without study. The knowledge simply comes to them. Eventually they are ready for the transition. In the transition to the Celestial heavens which lie above the seventh sphere, they fuse with their Divine Spirit, or Father Fragment which has accompanied them since their earliest years. This gives the Divine Fragment a personality, and the spirit gains Divinity and immortality. Spirits who have passed this stage tell us they KNOW they are immortal. There is no debate, such as exists in the Sixth. They then become spiritual beings, as opposed to semi-material beings. This difference must be subtle, because other less developed spirits do not seem able to discern the difference.

There are “un-numbered” spheres in the Celestial Heavens above, each more magnificent than the rest. Spirits who reside here complain that words simply cannot describe these spheres, and generally they just won’t try. These would appear to be the classic Kingdom of God that the Christian Bible talks about. But this concludes our summary. Ironically, because this is probably only the start of our next adventure, the re-birth by spirit that the Christian Bible promises to those who have faith that Father loves us. And an eternity of growth and spiritual adventure lies ahead. Perhaps there will be another narrow path we might have to navigate beyond the Kingdom of God?
